INCUBATED DUCKS.

They Are Very Timid and Lights Are Burned All Night for Them.

The difference between an incubated chicken and a duckling brought into the world in the same artificial way is very noticeable. The chicken will strut into the open with all the small amount of strength at its command, and look about as if it thought the world ought to be amazed at seeing such a pretty creature, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. The duckling, on the contrary will give one glance out of the hole, and then run back into the darkest corner and try to hide itself.

When placed in the runs destined for them, the ducks are scared at the least thing; any strange noise will cause them to huddle together in the farthest corner, piling themselves one on the other three or four deep; the result is death to some and injury to many more.

A duck loses weight every time it is frightened, so that breeders are careful not to disturb them. Such a coward is the incubated duck that it becomes necessary to burn a light all night; if left in the dark, the vivid imagination of the creature will conjure up all kinds of things to get frightened at, and consequently it is more profitable to burn a light.

An incubated chicken is sometimes placed with the ducks to show them how to look after themselves.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY SPEED.

Numerous Fatalities Engaging the Attention of Authorities in Some States.

The regulation of speed on the electric railways in the countryside is engaging the attention of authorities in some of the states, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The fatalities occurring on these lines are due principally to grade crossings and to the moderate speed of the cars in descending hills. The rapidity with which trolley cars may be run is subject to local regulation. It is not recalled that there are any general acts touching the matter in force anywhere, though caution in the management of electric street car lines has been urged upon the companies by the state authorities to whom the reports of steam and electric railroads are made. The superintendent of the Pennsylvania bureau of railways has in one or more reports called attention to the reckless operation of street railways in this state, and advised caution. The loss of life chargeable to the electric roads in 1902 in the United States is great, relatively, to the casualties on the steam roads. The deaths from steam railroad accidents during the year numbered 3,165, and 475 persons were killed and 2,144 seriously injured in electric car accidents.

CELERY KING

NATURE'S CURE

Bilious Evils.

You are being poisoned with contaminated blood when you are bilious, just as surely as being poisoned as though you were swallowing strychnine or hellebore. That poison is what makes the head ache, makes your mouth taste bad, makes you irritable, dumber, and worse after dinner.

Celery King purifies the blood and the whole inward man by cleansing the stomach and bowels, removing every taint of bilious poison.

A Hospital Case

There was a hurry call for the ambulance of the City Hospital. In the course of a few moments a very sick woman was brought in on a stretcher—she was pale as death and evidently suffering keen agony. There was a hasty examination and consultation, and in less than a quarter of an hour the poor creature was on the operating table to undergo an operation for ovaritis.

The above is an accurate account of an incident which occurred in New York recently; the young woman in question had warnings enough of her dangerous condition in the terrible pains and burning sensation low down in her left side. She had no one to advise her, and she suffered torture until it was too late for anything to save her life.

Women should remember that if they do not care to tell a doctor their troubles, they should be willing to tell them to a woman, who stands ever ready to advise and help them. Again we state that Mrs. Pinkham's advice is freely and confidentially given to every one who asks for it. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The following letters prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the power to cure, and does cure thousands of cases of inflammation of the ovaries, womb, and all other derangements of the female organism.

MRS. OTTOSON SAVED FROM A SURGICAL OPERATION.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot thank you enough for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. If it had not been for your medicine, I think I would have died.

"I will tell you how I suffered. I could hardly walk, was unable to sleep or eat. Menstruation was irregular. At last I had to stay in my bed, and flowed so badly that they sent for a doctor, who said I had inflammation of the ovaries, and must go through an operation, as no medicine could help me, but I could not do that.

"I received a little book of yours, and after reading it I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now a well woman. I shall praise your medicine as long as I live, and also recommend the same to any one suffering as I was."—MRS. MINNIE OTTOSON, Otho, Iowa. (June 9, 1901.)

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Women's Ills. Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times for they get what they want—a cure. Moral: Stick to the medicine that you know is Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

INFLAMMATION OF THE OVARIES CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my gratitude for the restored health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought into my life.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation.

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure I could not survive the ordeal, and so I told him that I would not undergo it. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of your Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, and in excellent health, and am now.

"You surely deserve great success, and you have my very best wishes."—MISS ALICE BAILEY, 50 North Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga., Treasurer St. Francis Benevolent Association.
